DALLAS INSTITUTE STAFF MEMBER RECEIVES MIRABEAU B. LAMAR AWARD

Charlie Fulton, the Clinical Embalming Preceptor of the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service, received the Mirabeau B. Lamar Award from the George B. Dealey Masonic Lodge in Dallas, TX. This award is presented by masonic lodges across Texas to persons involved in education. The award is named in honour of the father the Texas Public School System.

Fulton has been training funeral professionals in the art of embalming and Occupational Health & Safety standards since 2005 at the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service. He graduated from the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service in 1987 and is a Licensed Funeral Director, Embalmer, Certified Crematory Operator, and a Certified Cremation arranger in the State of Texas.

Fulton has also obtained the prestigious "Certified Funeral Service Practitioner" designation in 2005 for going above and beyond in his yearly Continuing Education requirements and by providing service to the community. He is currently a student at Ottawa University, working towards a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Christian Studies.

Fulton became a Master Mason in 1988 at Ferris Masonic Lodge #460 and is a dual member of Waxahachie Masonic Lodge #90, where he is a Past Master (2001-2002). Fulton is also a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason with the Dallas Valley of the Scottish Rite; a member of Hella Shrine Temple, he was named Rookie of the Year in 2000 for the Hella Shrine Clown Unit and is a Past Director of the Hella Shrine Clown Unit.

Charles Fulton has been mentoring the future of funeral service and providing direction and support to those who have been called to serve the families of those who have lost a loved one.
